It was a black and frosty night, sometime in the dead of winter 2007. I was in the rocking chair holding my baby son, who was about one year old at the time. I was offering him a bottle and I knew he needed food, but he was upset and had been screaming for much of the night. My wife and I had been ...

Son! August 14, 2012 at 1:46 am. I second this. I have ADD myself, and this is so me when I don't have a deadline-based, interesting project. Most ADDers simply can't focus their attention on boring, non-attention-holding work without someone holding a fire to their feet (and often, not even then).

Looking at the ingredients I would rather eat fast food, it's cheaper than your over priced trash and not much worse. While you can make an impact going out and helping exposing what is not helping can help too, bad companies deserve to be dismantled and boycotted by the people, I would not mind this one, but they tell people they are making them healthy while destroying them, that is not right.
